

1 suggestions about such things as prepublication
2 review?

3 A. I don't know what Chicago has. Our own little
4 author style guide doesn't have anything.

5 Q. Your style guide is primarily concerned with
6 punctuation and typesetting and that sort of thing?

7 A. Well, and getting permissions. There's a section
8 on getting permissions in it, a section on
9 formatting, a section on capitalization.

10 Q. Have you heard of the AP Manual?

11 A. Sure.

12 Q. Do you at Harvest House ever refer to Leonard
13 DuBoff's book entitled a book publisher's legal 14 guide?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Did you know he has that book?

17 A. No.

18 Q. Maybe you should get it.

19 A. Maybe.

20 Q. Was Mr. DuBoff involved in any sort of legal 21 vetting of the Encyclopedia of Cults and New 22 Religions?

23 A. Could you explain vetting to me.

24 Q. Oh. You're not familiar with the term vetting,
25 legal vetting?

- 1       A.    I know it has something to do with an attorney and 2            reading material.
- 3       Q.    Well, it's a process by which an attorney reviews
4            material before it goes to press and calls the
5            publisher's attention to any potential legal
6            problems, whether they be copyright or trademark.
- 7       A.    Okay.  The answer to your question is no.
- 8       Q.    Was any attorney involved in legal vetting for the 9            book?
- 10      A.    Not to my knowledge, no.
- 11      Q.    Do you ever send your books to an attorney before
12            you publish it, you at Harvest House?
- 13      A.    Well, we at Harvest House may, but I haven't in my 14            experience sent a entire book to an attorney.
- 15      Q.    Did you ever send a portion of the Encyclopedia of 16            Cults and New Religions to an attorney?
- 17      A.    Not that I recall, no.
- 18      Q.    Who would be able to answer that question with 19            certainty?
- 20      A.    Well, I know I didn't send any.
- 21      Q.    Who is Jennifer Hass?
- 22      A.    She has recently changed titles, but she is the 23            production manager.  Director of production, I
24            think, is her title now.
- 25      Q.    I'm looking at a document numbered HH 00410, and it
